

Summer Teacher Institute

Teaching about the Judicial Branch – the “Least Dangerous Branch” according to Alexander Hamilton

Location:

Thomas F. Eagleton U.S. Courthouse
111 South 10th Street
St. Louis, MO 63102

This is a FREE workshop.

Meals are provided.

Parking is provided by the Judicial Learning Center, Inc. at Stadium West Parking Garage.

Questions?

Please contact Rachel Marshall
(314) 244-2410

Rachel.Marshall@ca8.uscourts.gov

For more information on our programs, visit www.JudicialLearningCenter.org and
www.moed.uscourts.gov

Wednesday & Thursday, July 19-20, 2017

9:00 AM-4:00 PM

Check-in begins at 8:30 AM

Why did Alexander Hamilton refer to the courts as the “least dangerous branch”? Which parts of his original vision for our country relate to the work of the judicial branch today?

Join the United States Courts and the Judicial Learning Center for two full-days of learning about founding father Alexander Hamilton’s lasting impact on the judiciary and on the country.

This event is designed for high school and middle school social studies teachers, and is appropriate for both government and history courses.

Participants will take home a wealth of ideas, resources, and lessons. Teachers will also be given the opportunity to make advanced reservations for courthouse field trips, to include the traveling exhibition – “Alexander Hamilton: The Man Who Made Modern America,” which will be displayed at the courthouse in Fall 2017.

This event is FREE, but registration is required so that parking, meals, and materials can be provided. Register any time, but please no later than June 30.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE: by Friday, June 30

To make a reservation, visit:

www.JudicialLearningCenter.org/teacher-registration

Please take a moment to forward this flyer to your professional teaching colleagues, and post at your institution.