Street Law Professional Development Workshop: Federal Courts and the Equal Protection Clause

Thursday, March 2, 2023
8:30 am - 3:45 pm
One Day Virtual Workshop

High school social studies teachers (public, private and parochial) are invited to attend this workshop, focused on the federal court system, foundational constitutional concepts, and engaging current issues!

The Fourteenth Amendment guarantees Americans equal protection of the laws. But what exactly does "equal protection" mean? Explore this important question with legal experts from the federal courts, participate in case study activities, and apply what you have learned in a moot court of a case currently before the U.S. Supreme Court, Students for Fair Admissions v. University of North Carolina.

Join us for one full day of content and pedagogy professional development:

- Explore current and contested issues;
- Learn from legal experts;
- Receive classroom-ready materials;
- Participate in skill-building strategies like case studies and moot court;
- Special focus on current Supreme Court cases;
- Compliant with Missouri Learning Standards.

To get the benefit of this session, you need to be there for the entire day. If you cannot attend for the entire program, then we look forward to seeing you at next year's event.

Space is limited. If you are accepted into the class and find you are unable to make it, please contact us right away to give up your spot.

The virtual program will be held in Zoom, led by Street Law, featuring leading St. Louis area legal experts. Teachers who are accepted are eligible to apply for a $100 allowance, to be paid to your school to be used toward substitute teacher pay. This program is provided free of charge, thanks to generous sponsors.

Questions? Contact Dr. Tony Simones at the Missouri Bar or Rachel Marshall at the U.S. Courts

REGISTRATION LINK. Registration is now open and will close on February 1, 2023. You will be notified of acceptance by Feb 6. NOTE that registration does not mean acceptance.